A Midsummer Night's Dream
W. Shakespeare

1998

My gentle Puck, come here:
you remember
A little western flower,
purple with love's wound;
All maidens call it
Love-in-idleness.
Fetch me that flower—

Titania:
What angel wakes me
from my flowery bed?
I pray you, gentle mortal,
sing again.
Mine ear is much
enamoured of your note,
but of this wood
do not desire to go.

A sign that reads "OUR PUPPET SHOW" in colorful, blocky letters. A small yellow puppet is visible at the bottom left.

We make hand puppets and animal glove puppets
